DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE NEW ENGLAND FACTORY OPERATIVES.

VOL. I.

EXETER, N. H., SEPTEMBER 14, 1844.

A. R. BROWN, Publisher and Proprietor.

Published every other Saturday.

Office at No. 13, State street.

J. L. BECKETT, Printer.

The subscribers, who have no other object in publishing this paper than to stimulate the feelings of their countrymen, are satisfied to make a little profit on their paper, and to leave the profits of the subscribers, who are at liberty to have the paper publish the subscriptions, as they may think best.

SINGLE COPIES 2 CENTS.

THE ALBUM.

FRIENDSHIP AND HOPE.

There is a voice, a still small voice, in the ears of your own heart, which tells you what you are, and bids you do the best you can.

And there is another voice, the voice of holy desire, which tells you what you are not, and bids you strive to be better.

There is a voice that says, "You are a child of God, and in Him you have life and salvation.

And there is another voice that says, "You are mortal, and in Him you have death and destruction.

Blest vision love, light, and truth, ever shining in the ears of your heart, which tells you what you are, and bids you do the best you can.

And there is another voice that says, "You are mortal, and in Him you have death and destruction.

THE SELECT TALE.

The Vision.

During the early part of the reigns of George the third, there lived in an obscure village of the north, a young girl, whom Providence had endued with a sweet and gentle spirit, and who, from the days of her infancy, had been an object of love and admiration to all who knew her. She was fair in person, with a lithe and graceful figure, and her eyes were bright and sparkling, like diamonds in the sun. Her hair was a mass of golden curls, and her face was a picture of sweet contentment. She was the pride and joy of her parents, and the delight of all who saw her. She was a true daughter of the village, and she loved her village and her people with all her heart.

But even as she grew in age, so grew her beauty, and her grace, and her sweetness. She was the most lovely and charming girl in the village, and she was the most admired and the most loved. Her beauty was such a blessing to all who knew her, and her grace was such a delight to all who saw her, that she was called the "Queen of the Village," and she was the most beloved of all the girls in the village.

But even as she grew in age, so grew her beauty, and her grace, and her sweetness. She was the most lovely and charming girl in the village, and she was the most admired and the most loved. Her beauty was such a blessing to all who knew her, and her grace was such a delight to all who saw her, that she was called the "Queen of the Village," and she was the most beloved of all the girls in the village.

But even as she grew in age, so grew her beauty, and her grace, and her sweetness. She was the most lovely and charming girl in the village, and she was the most admired and the most loved. Her beauty was such a blessing to all who knew her, and her grace was such a delight to all who saw her, that she was called the "Queen of the Village," and she was the most beloved of all the girls in the village.

But even as she grew in age, so grew her beauty, and her grace, and her sweetness. She was the most lovely and charming girl in the village, and she was the most admired and the most loved. Her beauty was such a blessing to all who knew her, and her grace was such a delight to all who saw her, that she was called the "Queen of the Village," and she was the most beloved of all the girls in the village.

But even as she grew in age, so grew her beauty, and her grace, and her sweetness. She was the most lovely and charming girl in the village, and she was the most admired and the most loved. Her beauty was such a blessing to all who knew her, and her grace was such a delight to all who saw her, that she was called the "Queen of the Village," and she was the most beloved of all the girls in the village.

But even as she grew in age, so grew her beauty, and her grace, and her sweetness. She was the most lovely and charming girl in the village, and she was the most admired and the most loved. Her beauty was such a blessing to all who knew her, and her grace was such a delight to all who saw her, that she was called the "Queen of the Village," and she was the most beloved of all the girls in the village.

But even as she grew in age, so grew her beauty, and her grace, and her sweetness. She was the most lovely and charming girl in the village, and she was the most admired and the most loved. Her beauty was such a blessing to all who knew her, and her grace was such a delight to all who saw her, that she was called the "Queen of the Village," and she was the most beloved of all the girls in the village.

But even as she grew in age, so grew her beauty, and her grace, and her sweetness. She was the most lovely and charming girl in the village, and she was the most admired and the most loved. Her beauty was such a blessing to all who knew her, and her grace was such a delight to all who saw her, that she was called the "Queen of the Village," and she was the most beloved of all the girls in the village.

The Factory Girls' Garland

FAITH.

Of all things this faith, that stands foremost in the edifice of human society, that which has so commonly attended it, in the shape of religion, is the most common. It is the most common of all things that have been in vain, yet it cannot unite the twin sister of eternal glory, with any kind of intellection that has attended them. It is the commonest of all things, and the most heinous error, that has ever led to the belief of God, and the belief of every other thing. It is the most common of all things that have been vain, and the most common of all things that have been vain. It is common to the whole human race.

And the most common of all things that have been vain, it is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain. It is the most common of all things that have been vain.

The Factory Girls' Garland

ROMANCE AND TRAGICALITY.

The Story of a man and woman who, by the grace of God, were united in marriage, and who, after a long and happy married life, met their end through the means of a most cruel and unnatural death. The story is simple, but it is not without instruction. The man and woman were both members of a small community of American Brethren, and after several years of married life, they were visited by a violent and unexpected death. The story is instructive, and it is not without moral. The man and woman were both members of a small community of American Brethren, and after several years of married life, they were visited by a violent and unexpected death. The story is instructive, and it is not without moral. The man and woman were both members of a small community of American Brethren, and after several years of married life, they were visited by a violent and unexpected death. The story is instructive, and it is not without moral. The man and woman were both members of a small community of American Brethren, and after several years of married life, they were visited by a violent and unexpected death. The story is instructive, and it is not without moral. The man and woman were both members of a small community of American Brethren, and after several years of married life, they were visited by a violent and unexpected death. The story is instructive, and it is not without moral. The man and woman were both members of a small community of American Brethren, and after several years of married life, they were visited by a violent and unexpected death. The story is instructive, and it is not without moral. The man and woman were both members of a small community of American Brethren, and after several years of married life, they were visited by a violent and unexpected death. The story is instructive, and it is not without moral. The man and woman were both members of a small community of American Brethren, and after several years of married life, they were visited by a violent and unexpected death. The story is instructive, and it is not without moral.
THE FACTORY GIRLS' GARLAND

EARTH'S 9/39, 1894.

LIGHTING UP.

The factory girls of Lowell, Massachusetts, are the latest in a line of women who have made their voices heard for the betterment of their lives. In Lowell, the纺织女工 movement was a pivotal moment in the history of labor activism. In 1894, the factory girls of Lowell marched in what would become known as the Lowell Strike, demanding better wages, shorter hours, and an end to child labor. This page from the newspaper describes their struggle and the importance of their contributions to the labor movement.

THE FACTORY GIRLS OF LOWELL.

This is an article from the Boston Globe, one of the most esteemed newspapers of the time. It highlights the struggles and victories of the Lowell textile workers, emphasizing their role in the broader movement for workers' rights and social reform.

CONSISTENCY.

The article discusses the importance of consistency in the labor movement, noting the significance of the Lowell Strike and its impact on the broader movement for workers' rights. It underscores the need for sustained effort and collective action to achieve lasting change.

MISCELLANY.

The section includes a poem titled "The Long Grey" by Margaret Warner, which reflects on the long days and hard work of factory life. It also features a letter to the editor discussing the importance of consistency in the labor movement.

MEMORY—THE PAST.

The article looks back on the events of the past, including the Lowell Strike, and reflects on the enduring legacy of the textile workers' struggle. It highlights the importance of remembering and honoring their sacrifices.

THE LONGEST DAY.

This poem by Margaret Warner is a powerful reflection on the long days and hard work of factory life. It captures the essence of the textile workers' struggle and the sacrifices they made for a better future.

GROWTH.

The poem "Growth" by Margaret Warner is another powerful reflection on the transformative power of the textile workers' movement. It celebrates the idea that even in the most difficult of circumstances, growth and progress can be achieved.

EVENING—"Evening" by Margaret Warner is a poetic meditation on the passage of time and the enduring legacy of the textile workers' struggle. It reflects on the past and the present, and looks towards a brighter future.

Poetry

STANZAS.

"They are not dumb upon this hill,
But all as the morning stars in their course.
For I love to hear them say,
"Great God! what a woman is!"

They are not dumb upon this hill,
But all as the morning stars in their course.
For I love to hear them say,
"Great God! what a woman is!"

I love to hear them say
From the sky, "Great God! what a woman is!"
I love to hear them say
"Great God! what a woman is!"

Ye who have seen their light,
Who have heard the sweet song of their grace,
Ye who have seen their light,
Who have heard the sweet song of their grace,

Some business items must be contained within the number.
Several correspondents tried actions, and shall receive them as a basis of business now or at a later date.

LOVEL—One of our Travelling Agents, Mr. A. P. Brown, is spending a few days in Lovel, and we hear that he is doing a large business, as is usual in such localities.

When we laugh as you, then you may consider our confidence in you; for we are not unmindful of any beauty you may have to offer.

And you may believe that we are not unmindful of any beauty you may have to offer.

A young lady on a stage in London is said to be the most handsome, but I have no idea where she is located.

A young lady on a stage in London is said to be the most handsome, but I have no idea where she is located.

For the benefit of our readers, we shall give the following advice: If you are in London, or in any other part of England, you are advised to take care of your health, and to avoid all such places as are likely to be injurious to your health.

Newspaper of the Day

Some business items must be contained within the number.
Several correspondents tried actions, and shall receive them as a basis of business now or at a later date.

LOVEL—One of our Travelling Agents, Mr. A. P. Brown, is spending a few days in Lovel, and we hear that he is doing a large business, as is usual in such localities.

When we laugh as you, then you may consider our confidence in you; for we are not unmindful of any beauty you may have to offer.

And you may believe that we are not unmindful of any beauty you may have to offer.

A young lady on a stage in London is said to be the most handsome, but I have no idea where she is located.

A young lady on a stage in London is said to be the most handsome, but I have no idea where she is located.

For the benefit of our readers, we shall give the following advice: If you are in London, or in any other part of England, you are advised to take care of your health, and to avoid all such places as are likely to be injurious to your health.

Newspaper of the Day

Some business items must be contained within the number.
Several correspondents tried actions, and shall receive them as a basis of business now or at a later date.

LOVEL—One of our Travelling Agents, Mr. A. P. Brown, is spending a few days in Lovel, and we hear that he is doing a large business, as is usual in such localities.

When we laugh as you, then you may consider our confidence in you; for we are not unmindful of any beauty you may have to offer.

And you may believe that we are not unmindful of any beauty you may have to offer.

A young lady on a stage in London is said to be the most handsome, but I have no idea where she is located.

A young lady on a stage in London is said to be the most handsome, but I have no idea where she is located.

For the benefit of our readers, we shall give the following advice: If you are in London, or in any other part of England, you are advised to take care of your health, and to avoid all such places as are likely to be injurious to your health.

Newspaper of the Day

Some business items must be contained within the number.
Several correspondents tried actions, and shall receive them as a basis of business now or at a later date.

LOVEL—One of our Travelling Agents, Mr. A. P. Brown, is spending a few days in Lovel, and we hear that he is doing a large business, as is usual in such localities.

When we laugh as you, then you may consider our confidence in you; for we are not unmindful of any beauty you may have to offer.

And you may believe that we are not unmindful of any beauty you may have to offer.

A young lady on a stage in London is said to be the most handsome, but I have no idea where she is located.

A young lady on a stage in London is said to be the most handsome, but I have no idea where she is located.

For the benefit of our readers, we shall give the following advice: If you are in London, or in any other part of England, you are advised to take care of your health, and to avoid all such places as are likely to be injurious to your health.

Newspaper of the Day

Some business items must be contained within the number.
Several correspondents tried actions, and shall receive them as a basis of business now or at a later date.

LOVEL—One of our Travelling Agents, Mr. A. P. Brown, is spending a few days in Lovel, and we hear that he is doing a large business, as is usual in such localities.

When we laugh as you, then you may consider our confidence in you; for we are not unmindful of any beauty you may have to offer.

And you may believe that we are not unmindful of any beauty you may have to offer.

A young lady on a stage in London is said to be the most handsome, but I have no idea where she is located.

A young lady on a stage in London is said to be the most handsome, but I have no idea where she is located.

For the benefit of our readers, we shall give the following advice: If you are in London, or in any other part of England, you are advised to take care of your health, and to avoid all such places as are likely to be injurious to your health.

Newspaper of the Day

Some business items must be contained within the number. Several correspondents tried actions, and shall receive them as a basis of business now or at a later date.